Personal Bank of America Advantage Banking Accounts

Bank of America offers you the ability to choose from a variety of accounts to meet your financial needs. Each account has different features and benefits and is listed below:

- Bank of America Advantage SafeBalance Banking® for Family Banking
- Bank of America Advantage SafeBalance Banking®
- Bank of America Advantage Plus Banking®
- Bank of America Advantage Relationship Banking®

If your banking needs change, we offer you the flexibility to switch accounts. If you would like to switch between Advantage SafeBalance Banking, Advantage Plus Banking, and Advantage Relationship Banking accounts, your account number will not change. If you would like to switch to an Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account, you will need to open a new account and meet eligibility requirements.

You can write personal paper checks with the Advantage Plus Banking and Advantage Relationship Banking accounts. You cannot write personal paper checks with the Advantage SafeBalance Banking account or Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account. If you elect to switch from your existing personal account to Advantage SafeBalance Banking, you will no longer be able to write personal paper checks and should immediately stop writing them. We will continue to process paper checks you have written prior to switching to Advantage SafeBalance Banking for 60 days. After the 60 day period, all paper checks that you have written will be returned unpaid even when sufficient funds are available in the account to cover the paper check. When this happens, the payee may charge you a fee(s) for the returned payment.

Frequently Asked Questions About Accounts

This section covers some of the features and services that may apply to your account.

What are paperless statements?

With the paperless statement option, you get your account statement electronically through Online Banking and you do not get a paper statement. You can enroll in paperless statements at a financial center or through Online Banking. When you enroll at a financial center, you'll need to log into Online Banking from your computer to confirm your choice.

What is a direct deposit?

A direct deposit is an electronic deposit of funds to a checking or savings account.

For Bank of America Advantage Plus Banking accounts, qualifying direct deposits are deposits of regular monthly income — such as your salary, pension, or Social Security benefits — which are made by your employer or other payer using the account and routing numbers that you provide to them.

Other types of transfers and deposits do not qualify for the waiver of the monthly maintenance fee. Examples of non-qualifying transfers and deposits include: teller deposits, wire transfers, Online and Mobile Banking transfers, transfers from one account to another, and ATM transfers and deposits.

What does variable rate mean?

The interest-bearing checking or savings accounts we offer earn interest at a variable rate. Your interest rate and APY may change. At our discretion, we may change the interest rate on your account without limit or notice. We compound and credit interest to your account monthly.

What does it mean to link accounts?

You can link some of your other accounts with us either to your Advantage® with Tiered Interest Checking, Advantage® Regular Checking or Regular Checking account for pricing to help you meet the balance required to avoid the monthly maintenance fee on your checking account. When you link another account for pricing, you can use the balances in the other account to help you meet the balance required to avoid the monthly maintenance fee on your checking account. Linking accounts may also waive the monthly fee of the linked account. You must tell us what other accounts you want us to link to your checking account. An account can only be linked for pricing to one checking account at a time. We do not link your other accounts for pricing unless you tell us to do so. You can generally link savings, Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and CD, and some checking and Merrill investment accounts to your checking account. Some restrictions apply to what accounts can be linked. We may in our discretion place other restrictions on what accounts can be linked. See the Combined Balance Service section in the Deposit Agreement and Disclosures for more information.

Are the statement cycles for linked accounts the same?

When you link accounts for pricing, the statement cycles are generally different. If you use a combined statement for your checking and savings accounts, the statement cycles for the linked checking and savings accounts are generally the same.

What are combined statements?

You may request a combined statement for eligible accounts that have identical ownership. You understand and agree that information about each account may be made available to each owner and authorized signer of each account on the combined statement. We may restrict what accounts can be linked for a combined statement. Please note that combining accounts on a single statement does not mean they are also linked for pricing. To determine which accounts can be linked, or to link accounts, for combined statements or for combined balances (pricing), please call us.

Keep the Change® Savings Service

When you enroll in our Keep the Change savings service, we round up the amount of Bank of America debit card purchases made by you or a joint owner of your checking account to the next whole dollar amount, and transfer the amount in excess of the purchase price to the enrolled savings account.

We aggregate the round-up from purchases that post to your checking account each business day and make a single transfer (the “Keep the Change” transfer) at the end of the business day. If on a business day you do not have sufficient available funds in your checking account, or if any transaction has overdrawn your checking account, we do not round-up purchases posted on that business day and we cancel the Keep the Change transfer for that day.

If your debit card purchase is subsequently cancelled or reversed, the corresponding Keep the Change transfer will remain in the savings account. It is your responsibility to maintain your ownership of the checking and savings accounts enrolled in Keep the Change. At our discretion, we may cancel or modify the Keep the Change service at any time for any reason. Should you have any questions on the Keep the Change program, please contact your nearest financial center.

Other Important Account Information for Bank of America Advantage SafeBalance Banking® for Family Banking Account

This section covers some of the features and services that may apply to your account and amends certain sections of the Deposit Agreement and Disclosures.

What is the SafeBalance for Family Banking account?

The Bank of America Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account is tailored for parents or legal guardians opening an account for use with their child. It offers a more controlled experience to introduce financial responsibility. This account allows for the parent and child to pay by debit card and view account details in digital banking for ages 6+ with parental consent. The parent can set spending limits, receive transaction activity alerts and manage spend categories allowing for additional oversight and control of the account.

Who is eligible for the SafeBalance for Family Banking account?

A parent or legal guardian who is at least 18 years old and has a Bank of America Consumer checking or savings account with digital access. The term parent includes legal guardians for the purposes of this document.

A child who is under 18 years old at account opening.

Who owns the money in the SafeBalance for Family Banking account?

The parent is the owner of the account and the money in it.

Who is responsible for the SafeBalance for Family Banking account and the related transactions?

By opening and maintaining the account, the parent, as account owner, is agreeing to be held liable for all transactions occurring on the account, as well as for all actions by the child on the account, including but not limited to money transfers and use of a debit card on the account by the child. The parent as account owner grants the child access to the account at their sole discretion and is solely responsible for monitoring the child’s use of and access to the account. By designating a child on the account, the parent agrees that we may treat all actions by the child as being conducted by the parent.

How is money allowed to be moved in and out of the SafeBalance for Family Banking account?

The parent as the owner is able to transfer money into the account from another Bank of America consumer checking or savings account, deposit cash or checks and send wires. Please note, we charge a fee on incoming wires. Also, incoming wire transfers received in a foreign currency for payment into your account will be converted into U.S. dollars using the applicable exchange rate determined by Bank of America at its sole discretion. The account belongs to the parent and the child does not have the ability to make deposits into the account.

The following features are not available to the owner or the child: writing paper checks, Zelle®, and most external money transfers into the account, including ACH, direct deposits, and transfers from another bank. This account cannot receive redemptions of rewards, or cash advances, from a Bank of America credit card.

The following additional services are not available to the child of the account: ATM deposits, deposits at financial centers, mobile check deposits, and external money transfers out of the account including ACH, wires, Bill Pay, and transfers to another bank.

Money transfers via third-party payment providers such as Venmo®, Cash App®, or PayPal® are restricted; however, transactions for purchases may be processed.

My account is overdrawn. I thought I could not overdraw my Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account?

While we attempt to limit overdrafts on your Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account, at times overdrafts still occur. Here is an example of how that may happen: Your account had sufficient available funds when a restaurant requested authorization for your meal, but when the restaurant presented the transaction to us for payment on a subsequent day, you no longer had sufficient available funds due to adding a tip, resulting in your account being overdrawn. We will not charge you an Overdraft Item Fee if this happens. However, you may be assessed a fee by the merchant. It is your responsibility to monitor your account balance and ensure you have enough funds in your account to cover your transactions.

Sometimes funds in your account are not available to cover your items. When we determine that funds in your account are subject to a hold, dispute, or legal process, then these funds are not available to cover other items. We usually make this determination during end-of-day processing. Examples of holds include deposit holds and authorization holds for transactions we have authorized, but not yet posted to your account, such as for debit card transactions, cash withdrawals at an ATM or financial center, transfers using Zelle®, or transfers between certain types of accounts you own such as from a checking account to a savings account.

What overdraft setting is applied to Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking accounts?

We automatically apply our Decline All Overdraft Setting to your Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account. With the Decline All Overdraft Setting, if you do not have sufficient available funds in your account to cover an item, we will decline or return it unpaid. You may be assessed a fee by a merchant if this happens.

What happens if a merchant wants to use my account number and routing number for a payment?

Be careful when you give out your account number and routing number to an originator that you authorize to process debits from your account. At times, an originator may process such a payment as a check and submit it to us instead of an ACH (Automated Clearing House) transaction. Those checks may be rejected and not paid. You may be charged a fee by the originator if this happens. If you give anyone your account number and routing number, make sure it is only for a merchant to pull money out of the account via ACH transaction only. The Advantage SafeBalance Banking for Family Banking account will decline all ACH transactions into the account. You may want to ask if the merchant can use your debit card number instead. Please see the Deposit Agreement and Disclosures for more details about ACH transactions.

How do I pay my bills if I don't have checks? What if I need to write a check?

The owner of the account can pay bills and make payments with their debit card, a wire transfer, an outgoing Automated Clearing House (ACH) transaction or through our Online and Mobile Banking Bill Pay service. If you need to write checks on a regular basis and these alternatives do not work for you, you may need a traditional checking account that offers check-writing capability. Cashier's checks are also available for a fee in our financial centers.

If you need to write checks on a regular basis and these alternatives do not work for you, you may need a traditional checking account that offers check-writing capability. Cashier's checks are also available for a fee in our financial centers.

What happens if my employer asks for a voided check for direct deposit?

For Advantage SafeBalance Banking, a voided check cannot be provided as a method to set up direct deposit. There are a couple of options you can choose from to set up a direct deposit on your account.

- (i) You can provide your employer the account number and routing number and indicate that it is a checking account.

OR

- (ii) You can complete the printable direct deposit enrollment form in Online Banking or ask us for the direct deposit enrollment form that you can provide to your employer.

What happens to checks I have written from my existing personal checking account if I switch my account to Advantage SafeBalance Banking?

If you switch from your existing personal checking account to an Advantage SafeBalance Banking account, we will continue to process checks for 60 days. After the 60 day period, all paper checks that you have written will be returned unpaid even when sufficient funds are available in the account to cover the check. When this happens, the payee may charge you a fee(s) for the returned payment.

Preferred Rewards

Important Information: On or about May 26, 2026, our Bank of America Preferred Rewards program will become BofA Rewards. All customers with an open, qualifying personal checking account will be eligible for enrollment in BofA Rewards. BofA Rewards will feature the following tiers based on your three-month combined average daily balance in qualifying deposit and investment assets: Member tier, less than $30,000; Preferred Plus tier, $30,000 to $100,000; Preferred Honors tier, $100,000 to $1,000,000; and Premier tier, $1,000,000 or more. If you are enrolled in the Preferred Rewards program on the transition date, your enrollment will be automatically changed to the new BofA Rewards program: current Gold and Platinum tier members will be changed to the Preferred Plus tier; current Platinum Honors members will be changed to the Preferred Honors tier; current Diamond Honors members will be changed to the Premier tier. Your current benefits will change following conversion to BofA Rewards. For BofA Rewards eligibility requirements and a summary of new benefits, please refer to: bankofamerica.com/BofARewards.*

Until Preferred Rewards becomes BofA Rewards, customers can only satisfy the balance requirement for Preferred Rewards enrollment through a sufficient three-month combined average daily balance in qualifying deposit and investment accounts. Customers who do not fulfill this requirement will be eligible to enroll in the Member tier of BofA Rewards upon program launch.

You are eligible for the Preferred Rewards program when you:

- (i) have an active, eligible personal checking account with Bank of America,® and
- (ii) maintain the balance required for one of the balance tiers in any combination of eligible deposit accounts with Bank of America and/or eligible Merrill or Private Bank investment balances.

You can satisfy the combined balance requirement for enrollment with either:

- (i) your average daily balance for a three calendar month period, or
- (ii) your current combined balance, provided that you enroll at the time you open your first eligible personal checking account and satisfy the balance requirement at the end of at least one day within thirty days of opening that account.

Once you are eligible, you can enroll for program benefits. Eligibility to enroll is generally available three or more business days after the end of the calendar month in which you satisfy the requirements.

Your benefits become effective within 30 days of your enrollment, or for new accounts within 30 days of account opening, unless we indicate otherwise. Some benefits are automatically activated upon the effective date of your enrollment and require no action on your part. Some benefits may require you to open a new account or take other action. Some benefits are available based on balances and other requirements without the need to enroll. Read carefully the terms of any offer to understand the action required.

Different benefits are available at different balance tiers. The balance tiers and their qualifying combined balance amounts are: Gold, at and above $20,000; Platinum, at and above $50,000; Platinum Honors, at and above $100,000 and Diamond Honors, at and above $1,000,000. Bank of America Private Bank clients qualify to enroll in the Diamond Honors tier.

You will qualify for the next higher balance tier when your three-month combined average daily balance meets or exceeds the minimum amount for that balance tier. You will be moved to a higher balance tier starting in the month after the month in which you satisfy the combined balance requirement. The benefits of your new tier will generally begin to apply within 5 days of when you are moved to the higher tier.

We will perform an annual review of your qualifying balances in the month following the anniversary date of your initial enrollment in the program. The annual review will calculate your three-month combined average daily balance as of the end of your anniversary month. If the result of the annual review calculation would be to move you to a lower tier, you will have a three-month period from your anniversary month in which to restore your qualifying balance before you are moved to that lower balance tier. If you are moved to a lower balance tier, your benefits may be changed to those of the balance tier for which you qualify without further notice. Please note that while you can be moved to a higher balance tier after any month in which you satisfy the three-month combined average daily balance requirement for that tier, you will only be moved to a lower balance tier as a result of the annual review.

At the annual review, we will also confirm that you still have an active, eligible personal checking account with Bank of America. If as a result of the annual review you do not qualify for any balance tier, or you no longer have an eligible checking account, and you do not sufficiently restore your balances or open an eligible checking account in the three months after your anniversary month, your qualification will discontinue. Your benefits may then be discontinued immediately without further notice.

You or we may terminate your enrollment at any time. We may change or terminate program benefits at any time, without prior notice.

Only personal accounts that you own, and that in our determination are in good standing, count toward your balance requirements and receive benefits. Accounts that we do not recognize as accounts of the same owner, due to inconsistent identifying information, will not be counted together to qualify for eligibility or benefits. Accounts on which you are a signer but not an owner, or accounts included in your periodic statement on which you are not an owner, are not eligible.

Business accounts do not count towards the checking account requirement or balance requirements for the program, and will not be eligible to receive program benefits. Preferred Rewards for Business is Bank of America's rewards program for business accounts. Your business accounts may qualify separately for Preferred Rewards for Business.

See below for examples of accounts that do and do not qualify for the combined balance calculation:
